COMMENCEMENT WEEK OF C. H. S.

Opened Sunday Eve With Baccalaureate Sermon. Programs For Thursday and Saturday Evenings.

Commencement week of the Cloverport High School opened Sunday evening with the baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. J. R. Randolph in the Baptist church. The members of the graduating class, who are Misses Selma Sippel, Eva Jolly and Eleanor Reid and William L. Reid, attended the service together with Supt. R. F. Peters and Miss Adele Frymire 1st Assistant in High School.

On Tuesday evening the Primary department of the Public school gave a very attractive program under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Randolph and Miss Lillian May. The junior members of the school drew a large crowd to see their exercises. The proceeds of the door receipts will be used in buying equipment for the primary room.

The programs in full for class day and commencement exercises have been completed and are given herewith.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely thank our many friends and relatives for their sincere sympathy shown us in the death and interment of our beloved son and brother, Morris. Words cannot express our appreciation of the sincere kindness shown us, especially do we thank the Rev. J. R. Randolph for his impressive services rendered and Mr. Hamman for his never tiring effort to leave nothing undone. May each and every one be rewarded for their sincere kindness.

LEE ALEXANDER IN THE RACE FOR SHERIFF OF BRECKINRIDGE CO.

TO THE VOTERS OF BRECKINRIDGE COUNTY:

I was reared on a Breckinridge county farm, and have ever since been a farmer. I was for a few years also engaged in the General Merchandise business at Woodrow near my home. It is with the greatest of pleasure that I wish to sincerely thank my friends and neighbors for their business and good will during my short business career.

My relations with the Breckinridge county public have been such that I believe I can perform the duties of the Sheriff's office to your satisfaction, and having been solicited by many friends and associates, I announce as candidate for Sheriff of Breckinridge county, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

I believe that a public official should take the same interest in the performance of his public duties, that he does in the conduct of his own private business, that he should act with equal fairness to all, and should be partial to none.

I have no criticism to make of any man or party but it is my desire to come before you in a fair clean campaign, and should my request meet with your favor and should I be nominated and elected I promise to faithfully and cordially serve you in all matters connected with this important office.

Sincerely yours,
LEE ALEXANDER.

ATTENDED ENCAMPMENT OF GRAND ARMY OF REP.

Mr. Henry Tate was in Louisville, last week attending the Thirty-ninth Annual Encampment of the Department of Kentucky Grand Army of the Republic, which met in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Mr. Tate is 78 years old, but he is remarkable quick of speech and action for one of his years. The youngest "old" soldier at the encampment was W. H. Foster, of Owensboro, 75 years old.

LIVELY TIMES IN SIGHT FOR CANDI- DATES IN COUNTY

Who'll Be Next Postmaster in Cloverport is Local Question! County Officers to Have Interesting Race.

That the political pot in old Breckinridge will soon be boiling over there is no question, for it has already begun to sizzle.

Normally Breckinridge county is Republican, but not so everytime a county race is made, and this year it is a toss up. The Democrats are going to make a big showing. The Republicans are starting out already with a millstone around their neck.

Postmasters for Hardinsburg, Cloverport and several other places must be filled and as usual a hungry horde of office seekers is seeking this job. At Cloverport the game is growing very interesting with three avowed applicants to fill Postmaster C. E. Lightfoot's place whose term will expire in June. Marion Weatherholt, an early applicant for the place, claims he has it clinched as he is backed by the Republican committee, but Mrs. Ethel Hills, a widow with several children, is backed by the railroad shop men and the labor organizations. Her husband was one time foreman of the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis Railroad shop here and was a prominent Mason.

David B. Phelps is also an applicant for the place. He is a business man well qualified and has a strong pull among the business men. To make things more complicated Postmaster C. E. Lightfoot, who was paralyzed several months ago and was thought to be out of the game, is fast recovering and if the Civil Service rules prevail he will be up for reappointment, as the holding postmaster does not have to take the Civil Service examination.

Two strong warring Democrats are now busy taking all kind of "dope" handed out by Civil Service schools and will throw their hat in the ring at the proper time. Most of the candidates of the Republicans have announced, but only a few Democrats have come forward, in fact only strong men, and reliable men will be put out by the Democrats.

The Breckinridge-Hancock county race for Representative is going to be a red hot one. When George H. Newman was put out by the Republicans it was generally thought it would be practically useless for a Democrat to make the race in these strong Republican counties, but developments show Newman is not as strong in his home county as he should be, while Cloverport is smarting under the blow it got in the Federal Highway letting of contracts. A donation on her part of $30,000 toward the road fund was given. Not a dollar has been expended in this section. A bridge ready to fall that spans Clover creek. The voters are going to ask for what purpose they contributed the $30,000.

In the county judge's race a strong fight will be made. The leading Republican backed by the Republican officials is Paul Basham now circuit clerk, but the Democrats will center on Jesse M. Howard, of Glen Dean, a practical business farmer, clean in politics, and he is going to be a strong man to defeat.

The sheriff's race will also be a hard fought race and the probable Republican candidate will be W. C. Pate now deputy, and Lee Alexander, of Harned, who is also a good puller on the Democratic side of the ledger. Long before the katy-dids begin their death song, the hills and dales of old Breckinridge county will throb with the voices of the spell binders, and forty tom cats with their tails tied together and hung over a clothes line, won't be in it, to the battle royal now brewing in the Republican stronghold in old Breckinridge county.—Ed Gregory in Owensboro Messenger.

CHRISTIAN EDU- CATION MOVEMENT PRESENTED HERE

Atty. Eugene Atkisson, of Louisville, Delivered Excellent Address Sunday.

Mr. Eugene Atkisson, an attorney of Louisville, addressed the members of the Methodist and Baptist congregations Sunday morning at eleven o'clock in the Methodist church. Mr. Atkisson came to Cloverport in the interest of the Christian Education Movement of Southern Methodism. He did not make a direct appeal for subscriptions but his address was a long line of religious education.

Mr. Atkisson said that the Southern Methodists were planning to raise $33,000,000, and in Kentucky they will raise $1,120,000, each church in the State being assigned a certain quota. He brought out the facts that Kentucky was forty-third down the line in education, the crying need for today was for educated christian young men and women, and the need could best be met through the church schools.

The Christian Education Movement of Southern Methodism has a five-fold objective, including not only $33,000,000 for the improvement and endowment of her 91 institutions of learning but a million dollar aid fund for worthy students, the enlistment of 5,000 young people to devote their lives to the ministry, missions and other lines of christian service, the deepening of the moral and spiritual life of the church and the closer relation of the church to christian education through the church schools, Sunday schools and young people's societies.

The Rev. J. R. Randolph, pastor of the Cloverport Methodist church, has appointed minute men speakers for every Sunday in this month to say something along the line of the Education movement.

MORRIS SANDERS BURIED HERE

Son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Sanders, Evansville, Succumbed to Diabetis.

The funeral of Morris Sanders, 21 years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen W. Sanders, of Evansville, who died at the home of his parents, Friday morning, was held here Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Lucile Memorial Presbyterian church. The Rev. J. R. Randolph conducted the service. The interment was in the Cloverport cemetery.

The pall-bearers were six young men from Evansville, who were intimate friends of young Sanders, and who accompanied the remains here with the members of the family. Tributes of love and esteem were paid the deceased in the many handsome floral offerings that covered the grave.

Relatives and friends of the family living at Mattingly attended the funeral.

Sanders was born October 28, 1899 at Mattingly. He was the eldest child of Owen W. and Alice Brickey Sanders, and moved to Evansville with his parents about twenty years ago. For two years he had been suffering with diabetes, but his illness did not become serious until last Wednesday and death followed Friday at 2 a. m.

After completing his common school education Sanders became connected with his father in the Central Produce Company's business in Evansville. He was a competent and reliable young business man, and was popular both among the old and the young of his associates. He was a member of the Presbyterian church in Evansville, and lived a noble christian life.

Surviving are his parents, a sister, Pauline, and a small brother, Robert; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Brickey, of Mattingly.

Those from Evansville who attended the funeral were: Mrs. Walter Bender, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brickey, Miss Irene Brickey, Messrs. Robert Jefferies, and Jake Tuley.

ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIP- TIONS TO THE OLD KEN- TUCKY HOME FUND.

Subscriptions that have been made to the "Old Kentucky Home" fund for purchasing Federal Hill, during the past week were from Cloverport Public School $2.45 and St. Mary's of the Woods church, McQuady, $4.16. The entire amount remitted to the Old Kentucky Home Commission, Louisville, by Miss Mildred D. Babbage was $60.48.

DISTINGUISHED DEMO- CRATS VISIT CLOVERPORT.

TWO REAL ESTATE DEALS CLOSED

Joe Monnen Sells His Lot on Main St. House Sold on River St. in East End.

Mr. Joe Monnen has sold his vacant lot on Main street to Mr. Charles Bornwasser for $900 cash. Mr. Monnen bought the lot and a store building from Mr. and Mrs. James N. Cordrey. The building which was then occupied by Mrs. Ethel O. Hills' Millinery and Ready-To-Wear establishment, burned on Christmas night 1919. The deal was transacted last week. Attorney V. G. Babbage representing Mr. Monnen.

Another real estate deal of last week which Mr. Babbage executed the deeds for was the transferring of a house and lot on River street in the East End adjoining Joe Carter's property, belonging to Mrs. Enola Rafferty and heirs in California, to George H. Hanks. The property sold for $350.

The deal between Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Weatherford and Mrs. Enola Rafferty and heirs, for the vacant lot next to the Lucile Memorial Presbyterian church, has been closed giving Mr. and Mrs. Weatherford possession of the land. They expect to build a home.

CAPSULES

The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid trouble. Famous since 1896. Take regularly and keep in good health. In three sizes, all druggists. Guaranteed as represented. Look for the same Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

HOPELESS DISEASES CAN NOT BE CURED BY DOCTORS OR MEDICINE

There are some diseases which are absolutely hopeless and past cure by any physician or medicine, but they may yet be palliated and a medicine, if it can not help in one case, it may help in another. To any one suffering from a disease a remission is a degree of health and a medicine that relieves or palliates a disease is of great benefit. We can not guarantee to cure any disease with Number 40 For The Blood, but we quote word for word what the ingredients in 40 are recommended for in the U. S. Dispensatory and New American Materia Medica. "In the treatment of blood troubles, an acknowledged remedy among all schools of physicians, removes the cause of disease and stimulates the removal of waste, thus indirectly encouraging nutrition. Disorders of the nervous system demand this remedy, such as neuralgias, chronic rheumatism, gouty conditions, malnutrition, auto-intoxication, constipation. Used with phenomenal success in eczema and skin diseases, lumbago, glandular swellings, ulcerations of mucous membranes and in general disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and spleen or a general run down condition of the system."

Prepared by J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind., 40 years a druggist. The best druggist in your neighborhood sells Number 40, but if it happens that he does not, send direct to J. C. Mendenhall Medicine Company, Evansville, Ind., and receive it delivered to you at $1.25 per bottle, six bottles for $7.00.

SHELLED AND EAR-CORN HAVE SAME FEED VALUE.

Lexington, Ky., May 14.—Shelled and broken-ear corn are about equal in feeding value for fattening steers, according to results of experiments conducted by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station and presented at the recent annual spring meeting of Kentucky feeders and breeders.

Two lots of ten steers each were fed similar rations for 140 days with the exception that one lot received shelled and the other broken ear corn.

The first lot gained a total of 2,730 pounds at a cost of $14.24 per hundred pounds of grain while the second lot which received the broken-ear corn gained a total of 2,640 pounds at a cost of $14.21 per hundred pounds gain. Cotton seed meal, corn silage and straw were fed in addition to the two kinds of corn.

Charles Smith, alias Charles Martin, was arrested in this county last week on the charge of having robbed railroad stations at Whitesville, Daviess county, and at Fordsville, Ohio county on Sunday night, May 8.

NASHVILLE MAN GAINS 20 POUNDS

Night Watchman Luckett Says
He Feels Like a Different Man Since Taking Tanlac

It certainly is remarkable that a man sixty-nine years of age should gain twenty pounds in weight, but that is just what Benjamin A. Luckett says he did by taking Tanlac. Mr. Luckett is night watchman for the White Trunk and Bag Co., and lives at 4801 Tennessee St., West Nashville, Tenn.

"My health began to fail about two years ago. I had no appetite and what little I did eat gave me considerable discomfort afterwards especially from gas that formed in my stomach which gave me a tight stuffy feeling. I had an awful pain across the small of my back, and my kidneys bothered me a good deal.

"I lost thirteen pounds in weight and was going down hill so fast I became worried and discouraged. It was lucky for me I started on Tanlac when I did, for it suited my case exactly. I am feeling like a different man now. I have such a big appetite I intend to get a bigger lunch-basket. Everything I eat agrees with me and I have gained twenty pounds in weight. I'm on the job every night now feeling just fine."

K. OF C. TO MEET IN ASHLAND IN 1922.

Twenty-five Per Cent Gain in Membership Last Year.

The State Council of the Knights of Columbus closed its annual session in Frankfort, last Tuesday evening. Officers were elected and reports were made at the concluding session. The secretary reported a 25 per cent gain in membership, and the council contributed $100 to the Old Kentucky Home Fund. Ashland will be the meeting place for the 1922 session. Gov. Morrow addressed the Knights at the banquet on the last evening.

New officers elected were: LaVega Clements, Owensboro, was elected State Deputy; George A. Burkley, Louisville, secretary; Z. T. Campbell, Springfield, treasurer; Joseph Polin, Richardson, Elizabeth, Warden.

Paul J. Meager, Frankfort, the Rev. James I. Gorey, Covington, and R. E. McNamara, Elizabethtown, were elected delegates to the National Council at San Francisco.

K. OF C.'S SPENT NEARLY $5,000,000 IN WAR WORK.

William J. McGinley, Supreme Secretary of the Knights of Columbus, has just forwarded to the Surgeon General's Department of the United States Army a detailed report of the hospital work done by the "Caseys" during the war and the reconstruction period following the armistice.

According to this report, the hospital work entailed an expenditure of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. The Knights maintained during the war 142 buildings, sixty two hospitals and 698 secretaries.

WHEAT CROP BET- TER THIS YEAR

More Than 2,000,000 Bu. Increase Over Last Year;
Breckinridge Wheat Crop
Averages 98 %.

The condition of Kentucky's wheat crop indicates a probable production of about 7,851,000 bushels this season compared to 5,610,000 bushels last year, according to the May crop report issued today by the U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates in co-operation with State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna. Probable rye production is estimated at about 565,000 bushels compared to 480,000 bushels, last year; and hay of all kinds about 1,661,000 tons compared to 1,508,000 tons grown last year. Actual production this season may prove greater or less than these estimates, depending on whether conditions are particularly favorable or unfavorable between now and threshing time and hay harvest.

Wheat Injured

Wheat and rye in most counties came through the winter in good condition, but farmers in most of the wheat growing counties report that wheat has been injured by the late frosts and cold wet weather this spring. Kentucky's wheat acreage left for harvest now is estimated at 603,000 acres compared to 550,000 finally harvested last year, but some farmers report an intention to "hog down" wheat if the price should be very low or a poor yield in prospect at harvest time. Condition this month is 93 per cent of normal, compared to 71 per cent this time last year, and a 10-year average of 86 on May 1. Rye condition is 95 per cent or normal, compared to a 10-year average of 90 per cent May 1.

Spring Plowing Behind.

The very early spring was generally favorable for plowing and other spring work, but the recent rains and cold weather have been general almost throughout the state, so that plowing is only 69 per cent complete, compared to 71 per cent usually done by May 1. Fifty per cent of Spring planting was finished by May 1, compared to 45 per cent usually done by May 1. Pasture is 93 per cent of normal compared to the 10-year average of 86. Twenty-five per cent of last year's hay crop in Kentucky (or 377,000 tons) is still on farms compared to about 157,000 tons May 1, 1920.

Livestock losses during the winter were usually light, except in some localities, and the spring condition of stock in general is above average.

The condition of wheat in Breckinridge county is reported to be on an average of 98 per cent, rye 95 per cent, hay 99, pasture 100.

FORTY-HOURS DEVOTION IN ST. ROMAULD'S CHURCH.

Rev. Father J. F. Norman, pastor of St. Romain's church, Hardinsburg held forty-hours devotion in his church from Sunday until Tuesday of this week. Father Norman was assisted in the services by Rev. Father Fitzgibbon, of Rhodolia; Rev. Father Gettlefinger, of Painesville and Rev. Father J. S. Henry, of this city.

BAPTIST AGENCY BUSINESS GROWS

Sunday School Board Reports
$1,000,000 In Publishing for
First Time.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 14.—The Baptist Sunday School Board, the publishing agency of the Southern Baptist Convention, has not felt the financial stringency that has characterized many other lines of business during the last year, and, instead of losing business, reported a gain of twenty-five per cent in its annual report to the convention in session here today.

For the first time in the thirty years' history of the board, the receipts went beyond $1,000,000, this year's receipts being in excess of $1,000,000, compared with $862,000 the year before.

During the last five years the board's receipts have been more than $3,600,000, the report set forth, and of this sum more than $700,000 has gone back into the treasury of the denomination. Last year's gifts to denominational purposes amounted to more than $160,000.

More than $100,000 was expended the board during the year on its Baptist Young People's Union and Sunday School Organization, including the headquarters organizations for the various departments of this work and the rural Sunday school campaign last summer when about 5,000 rural Sunday school teachers were reached with training schools in better Sunday schools methods. During the year 12,081 diplomas were given teachers who had completed the Sunday school normal course, while 23,675 seals were awarded other teachers who had done advanced work.

The Architectural Department of the board gave in seventeen states of the Southern Baptist Convention in the formulation of plans for houses of worship. Similar counsel was given to churches in twenty-nine other States and several foreign countries.

GIGANTIC LIQUOR SMUG- GLING PLOT TO BE EX- POSED SHORTLY.

The most elaborate system of liquor smuggling yet discovered in the United States, is to be revealed within a short time. This gigantic plot of smuggling liquor into this country from overseas, is being financed by the most prominent men in the Atlantic coast cities. The imported stock is said to be worth its weight in gold. Most of it is brought to Atlantic City. All kinds of vessels are used in smuggling the liquor in to port, even airplanes, seaplanes and hydroplanes are used. $50,000 worth of liquor was seized in one day by Federal authorities. The smugglers are reported to believe that their system is so complete that it would never be discovered. C. R. Kurty, Surveyor of Customs, of Philadelphia made the discovery.

MOUNTAIN SCENIC BEAUTIES SHOWN IN GOVERNMENT FILMS

Pictures Show Most Popular of "Nations Playground."

When Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote his story about "The Great Stone Face" he little thought that the famous "Old Man of the Mountains" would figure as the "male lead" in a motion picture, but that is the case. "The Old Man of the Mountains" is the central figure in a new motion picture production and issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The picture in which the "old man" stars is known by the title "Under the Great Stone Face." It is one of a series of four in which the beauties of the White Mountain National Forest are pictured. The other three pictures are known as "Hitting the High Spots,"

"Cloud Busting," and "In King Snow's Court." All of them show phases of the work of the Forest Service in the White Mountains, but devote most attention to the recreational opportunities in the White Mountain National Forest, which is one of the most popular of the "Nation's playgrounds." "In King Snow's Court" was photographed in the winter and is centered around a winter carnival, in which figure ski jumping, Alaskan dog teams, and skaters.

Each of the pictures is one reel in length. The films will be circulated through the distribution system of the department of cooperating State institutions. Copies of any of the pictures may be bought under certain conditions by authorized persons and institutions at the manufacturing cost of approximately $40 a reel.

HICKORY BUDS AND LETTUCE LEAVES BOYS' MEALS FOR 12 DAYS.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., May 12.—Barefoot, ragged and hungry, eleven-year-old Harvey Moody, apprentice from an orphan's home, was found in a tobacco barn eight miles from this city today after roaming the woods for twelve days.

A large posse of farmers have been scouring the countryside for several days in search for the lad. He said that he had been mistreated, and left because he was afraid of receiving further punishment.

He lived on hickory buds and lettuce leaves, and slept in a barn under a small piece of rag carpet.

CLOVERPORT MAY GET GERMAN CANNON.

Representative Ben Johnson has introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to donate to the town of Cloverport, Ky., one German cannon or fieldpiece. An exact copy of the bill reads:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of War, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to donate, without expense to the United States, to the town of Cloverport, Kentucky, one cannon or fieldpiece captured by the American Army from the forces of the Imperial German Government, to be used for ornamental purposes.

LOCAL ADVERTISING PAYS AND PAYS BIG TOO

Dear Brother Publisher:

Show this chart to your local skeptics as a proof that local advertising pays—and pays big!

This graphic picture of what Avery dealers did is based on actual results reported to Avery by country dealers who sell their implements and machines. Most of the advertising done by these local dealers was in their local papers—and the advertising dealers averaged 13 times as much in sales as the non-advertising dealers.

Every last one of your local merchants ought to be a constant and consistent user of space in your paper. Maybe this chart will help you convince some of the unconvinced. We hope so.

If it is true that the real velvet in a merchant's profit lies in his stock turn-over and it does then the only in selling is to advertise locally. You way he can approach 100% efficiency can show him that you can help stimulate his stock turn-over.

You can give your merchants the local contract they can get in no other way.

Go get 'em! We're for you!
Yours very truly,
SOUTHERN AGRICULTURIST

BLAMES UNCLE SAM FOR NOT PREDICTING FROST.

Springfield, Mass., May 12.—Failure of the United States Weather Bureau to forecast the conditions that caused yesterday's frost was responsible in a large measure for the loss of more than $50,000 by farmers in this section, William H. Wolff, horticultural expert of the Hampden County Improvement League, declared to-night. Adequate warning, he said, would have enabled growers to cover up tomatoes and other vines which suffered most heavily from the frost. The weather report, he said, indicated rising temperature for yesterday.

WEDNESDAY,

MAY 18, 1921

IN BEHALF OF MR. HOWARD.

The Editor of The Breckenridge News has had his attention called to an error that appeared in Mr. Jesse M. Howard's announcement which was published in last week's issue of the News.

The announcement read, "I have yielded to the demand of my party friends," and we are informed, it should have read "party and friends." The error came about because of the fact that the copy did not have the word "and" spelled out. The mark, which writers so often substitute for the word "and," was not distinct in the original copy, hence it was overlooked.

However, it is the Editor's pleasure to make the correction in behalf of Mr. Howard, whom we have stated time and again is not a partisan politician and consequently it would have been all out of order for him to have made such a statement as "yielding to his party friends," in his announcement. It is not a grievous error, nor one that will in any way make against Mr. Howard in his campaign. His announcement otherwise plainly states the stand that he takes in making the race.

Merely to meet the interest payable on May 16, in the second Liberty Loan bonds it will cost Uncle Sam $70,000,000, and $232,124,000 will be required to liquidate the certificates which mature on May 16.

May is a busy month in Cloverport.

FARM AND STOCK

Gray and Dowell shipped from Garfield, last week 100 head of hogs that averaged over 200 pounds said to be the finest bunch of hogs ever shipped from Garfield.

The derrier and oil well outfit which was pulled up out of a dry well at the depth of over 1,600 feet on the pike near Hardinsburg is now being set up on W. R. Moorman & Son's farm near Glen Dean, where "they are sure to strike a good well," says W. R. Moorman. Sr. The Moorman's generally get what they go after, and we are of the same opinion that they will strike a good well.

Roe Hook says his friends are urging him to make the race for Jailer of Breckenridge county on the Democratic ticket. He hasn't as yet made up his mind to get into the race, but he may do so. He thinks now that Abe Meador is out of the way and not in the running so maybe he can lick the next Republican. Roe is a mighty fine man and has a lot of friends all over the county, who will support him.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins Smith had for their dinner guests last Saturday, Frank Ruppert, Tice Miller, W. C. Moorman and Jno. D. Babbage. Such a splendid dinner it was too. Fried ham and red gravy and egg corn bread, potatoes, peas, pork and beans and lots of other good things, butter and milk and pie. Oh, how Ruppert and Miller did eat! Mr. Moorman was on a diet and had to be excused, but

Mr. Babbage made up for his share. The man who can't eat Mrs. Smith's cooking is not much of a eater. It was certainly a sumptuous dinner, not a specially prepared one—but just an every day one.

There is an enterprising live animal dealer over at Garfield. He buys and ships foxes, squirrels and coons. O. B. Vaughn is his name and he has been in the business for a number of years. He shipped just recently 14 young red foxes and two old ones. This week he shipped 6 red foxes, 48 gray squirrels, 5 young red squirrels, 10 old reds, 5 old grays and three young grays. He ships to North Carolina, Canada and all the Western States.

Hawkins Smith is doing some fine work on the Highway between Garfield and Irvington. He has a splendid equipment of mules and horses, scrapers and a fine bunch of men to handle them. Says he hopes to finish up his contract in two or three months if he has no bad luck. The contractors on both ends of the road are doing good work and pushing things.

Beard Brothers paid out in Hardinsburg, last week over $25,000 for tobacco and for the previous week $35,000. There was a big bunch of wagons on hand Monday to be unloaded. This amount of money being paid out will certainly help things.

The Stephensport Roller Mills sent The Breckenridge News a sample sack of their corn meal which they pride themselves on making. They have a right to be proud of it for it is good. Mrs. Babbage who has handled a lot of corn meal, and is a good judge, says it is the best she has had in a long time. This meal is made from the best corn, selected with care, and specially ground. It is worth trying.

Read the tobacco article in this issue. If you overlooked reading last week's article hunt it up and read it. It is worth your attention.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear sister, Emma Nichols, who departed this life May 9th 1920.

Dear sister it was hard to part with you. But God hath willed it so And we have been lonely since you left us Today one year ago.

We think of you and love you still As through this life we roam For when you died God called to Him The angel of her home.

Oh one of God's angels they say you are now, A bright crown adorning your fair shining brow Oh stretch out your sweet hands waxen and white And draw us all onward to you and the light. Sadly missed by her sister, Mrs. Jim Lane.

ARSENICAL POISONS KILL FLEA BEETLES ON TOBACCO.

Lexington, May 14.—Arsenical poisons will control tobacco flea beetles which are appearing in many plant beds and causing damage, according to H. H. Jewett of the College of Agriculture. The plants should be sprayed with arsenate of lead paste at the rate of one pound of paste to ten gallons of water or with arsenate of lead powder at the rate of one pound to twenty gallons of water.

A MARKETING PLAN TO SOLVE KENTUCKY'S TOBACCO PROBLEM

PART II

Saturday Morning, March 26.

The conference met pursuant to adjournment and Mr. Sapiro continued his talk as follows:

MR. SAPIRO—Judge Bingham has suggested, and I think properly, that the major part of the morning should be open for questions. But before we get to that I first want to answer some questions that have been expressed and specifically put to me by individual persons of this group.

First, what could be done under the existing anti-pooling law in Kentucky?

Second, what could be done under your existing co-operative law in Kentucky?

Third, how would the laws apply?

The Legal Situation.

Kentucky has no co-operative marketing association act which permits the organization of co-operative marketing associations without capital stock. The State has an act to permit the organization of marketing associations on the Rochdale plan with capital stock and limited dividends and proportion of profits going to reserves. It is one act which was almost universally adopted in the Mississippi Valley, but is now being changed as fast as the States can get to that. The act has never been in effect on the Pacific coast. We have always been able to get along without that. Your only other law then is a law that permits you to form organizations without capital stock, but which must not be for private profit. Inasmuch as the marketing association is for private profit you are cut out under that. Therefore, I will not hesitate to tell you that there is no law in the State of Kentucky under which you can legitimately organize a co-operative marketing association without capital stock.

The next question is whether you can organize under any other State and contract in Kentucky. The answer is yes, unless you bring in a corporation which violates some law of the State. Of course, you couldn't organize even a domestic organization for the purpose of expressly violating any law of the State. You can have a foreign corporation do anything in the world which the domestic law will not do. You have an interesting anti-pooling law devised to prevent combinations or pools in restraint of trade. It especially prohibits anything that looks like reduction of acreage or production. It prohibits anything relating to collusion for restriction of prices, restraint of competition and those things by improper methods or otherwise. You have a very drastic law in that.

I am going to tell you just how we are handling the same situation in Mississippi. The State of Mississippi doesn't know the word "co-operation" is in the dictionary. There is not a single law on the books in reference to co-operative marketing associations of co-operative associations of any kind. Secondly, Mississippi has a law that no foreign corporation can do business unless the articles have been approved by the Attorney General. Next Mississippi has a law which absolutely prohibits any sort of combinations which tend to control or regulate prices or amount of production of any commodity and all that. In effect, it is practically the same as the best part and the worst part of your Kentucky law.

The Way Out in Mississippi.

Nevertheless, the Mississippi delta cotton growers wanted to organize. They are now at the point where they have reached 91 per cent of the cotton growers required to be signed up—192,000 bales out of 200,000. I prepared the articles of incorporation of that group. It will incorporate in Tennessee because Tennessee has a fairly good law. It is a neighboring State; Memphis is the capital of Mississippi anyhow for all business purposes; and it is very easy to run Mississippi activities from Memphis. So they will organize under the Tennessee law.

We had to get articles of incorporation that would pass the Attorney General of Mississippi, and secondly, that would pass, so that the activities would not be subject to wild prosecution under the so-called anti-trust act.

We took the Mississippi statute and traversed each part of the statute. For instance, where it says you cannot form a combination to fix prices, we expressly state, that this corporation may not fix prices, but it is empowered under a standard arrangement to handle cotton for growers of this section and to offer that cotton on the best markets of the world and to secure the best current market price. We traversed every provision in that particular law. We say expressly in our articles of incorporation that instead of being a combination for the purpose of reducing or limiting competition or production, we were creating this co-operative association for the purpose of finding the best markets of the world, for getting products as directly as possible between the producer and the actual commercial users, after eliminating the so-called speculative and wasteful elements; for extending markets; for extending demands; for extending production.

So our articles of incorporation traversed the Mississippi law on every particular point, stating exactly the purpose of the association. Now that is very important, because while it isn't really important from a technical standpoint to traverse the law so that it would pass the Attorney General, we actually set out in those articles of incorporation the real and primary purposes of the co-operative marketing association.

A co-operative marketing association is not created for the purpose of restraining trade; it is not created for the purpose of restraining competition or creating artificial prices, or anything of that kind. What you are doing is to extend the markets, get increased production, stabilize market conditions. You can put out all the speculators in the world without a court holding you are restraining trade. The only trade to worry about is the so-called barter and sale, the activities that can be economically and fairly conducted with good both to the consumer and producer. We do not interfere with that side. What we are thinking to do is to establish an intelligent system of handling the product, not to regulate the quantity nor reduce quantities, but to extend the uses, extend the markets—everything that is the reverse of what the law forbids. There is a very definite method of handling the situation occasioned by your Kentucky law by the absence of a co-operative marketing law. It is exactly the parallel of this Mississippi situation.

New Laws Needed.

However, there is a still better alternative. At the next session of the Legislature, have that body adopt the so-called co-operative marketing association law. That will solve your problem—because the act is a basic act. It gives the growers of the State the right to organize different types of co-operative marketing associations, organize with capital stock or without, but gives the right to organize. Then it especially states the kind of contract you may make—agency, or sale and resale. It tells the remedies and the so-called pool arrangements, and all that. In short, you will have basic and fundamental law that permits the growers to do everything that is necessary.

Immediately you will have a statute that makes it almost a crime to attempt to get a man to break pooling agreements made with co-operators, and to go round whispering and insinuating things against him. It has been upheld in your courts. We have adopted it. The Kentucky Court of Appeals has gone further than any other court in promoting co-operation. A law has been prepared; Judge Bingham has a copy of it. He has had it prepared. I think he will take that up with the members and see that the right arrangement is made for having it introduced and; if possible, passed by your State Legislature. Fundamentally there is a proper basic co-operative law now in the hands of your leader on this practical plan.

I wanted to answer the series of questions which have been put to me by various persons since yesterday. Now, I am going to state in a nutshell what is contemplated for the Burley tobacco group.

The Burley Co-operative Plan.

It is contemplated that you shall organize a co-operative marketing association without capital stock of the Burley tobacco growers. You will have a clause providing that, when other sections of the country, or for other associations are organized in other types of tobacco, you may co-operate with them—in short, do things to prevent one type being sacrificed for another type of tobacco, but keeping the Burley tobacco pools and arrangements separate. Do that for the financial arrangement. You don't want paper against some other type of tobacco that may be broken on the market chargeable against Burley tobacco or the Burley Association, or vice versa. From the financial standpoint, keep the types of tobacco as distinct as you can; but co-ordinate the agencies for selling and general outside handling of tobacco.

You will probably then have your Burley tobacco association centered in Kentucky. If you organize later, after the proper co-operative law has been passed in Kentucky, you will organize under the laws of Kentucky. If you try to do it immediately you will have to organize under the laws of some neighboring State preferably North Carolina or Tennessee in this particular instance.

Now, your whole plan would contemplate an arrangement whereby the Burley tobacco growers could become members of the association. They would pay an entrance or membership fee of $10 per person. I give you that as a shot out of the air. The entrance fee is always figured as double what you estimate the cost of getting members will be. If you figure the cost as $5 per person to get members into the association, then you make the entrance fee double that, because the cost will always be a little larger than you contemplate at the start. These things are contemplated cost. So you will have an entrance fee, say, of $10, or whatever figure you may determine. You will arrange to divide the State into twenty districts according to the sign-up from each district, having each one represent approximately one-twentieth of the sign-up without dividing counties, and have each elect its own director. One director is appointed by the Government or by some body representing the public interest in the tobacco association. Then you have an Executive Committee of five appointed by the board. Then you arrange that the association shall have full power to carry out certain marketing contracts with the growers. These contracts will provide that for five years each grower shall deliver to the association all the Burley tobacco that he produces. The association will grade it, sell it and assign to the grower his net proportion of the proceeds. That would be the key to the contract. The contract provides that if a grower hesitates about keeping a contract you can go to the court and get an injunction preventing delivery to someone else, ordering him to deliver to you and compelling him to pay the costs. It is a very effective contract as far as the association and grower are concerned. That is the plan in a nutshell.

Then it is contemplated that the association shall do the usual things in grading and merchandising tobacco. It will have absolutely full power to borrow money for financing the association and to undertake any method for extending the markets and getting a fair price for tobacco over a term of years. That is contemplated in the plan.

The Bright Tobacco Group.

Some of you ask for a copy of the plan signed up in Virginia and South Carolina and North Carolina. I have home booklets containing that plan. I don't advocate an exact copy. The plan is the plan as best adapted to the bright tobacco districts. It is primarily for the bright tobacco, although some men think it will include the sun-cured because of the fact that sun-cured tobacco is practically inseparable from bright tobacco units in Virginia. But it is primarily for the bright tobacco group. Then there is a clause under which they can co-ordinate their own group with any other association in the country.

This association, starting in Virginia and the Carolinas, is headed in the various States by a committee named in the agreement. When you see the names there you will see men who correspond in those groups to yourselves in the State of Kentucky—the real leaders in those communities, not merely men who are the biggest and most successful growers. In North Carolina you have men like Clarence Poe, who from an intellectual standpoint is the best agricultural leader in North Carolina; L. S. Tomlinson, B. W. Kilgore, a canny and ideal director of extension, in Virginia you have J. R. Hutcheson, the vigorous director of extension; M. O. Wilson, a fine grower and thinker, and in South Carolina, Bright Williamson, an unusually brainy businessman, also W. W. Long, of Clemson College, the able director of extension. Those are

THE U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—and a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season.

The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S. Patent Office.

How you can measure tire value in 1921 —

"Any U. S. Tire is a universal full money's worth."

OFTEN it's surprising the number of different tire views that come out in a chance talk at the curb or in the leisure of a friend's garage.

Almost every day you come across the man human enough to believe he can outguess the cut-price tag on "job-lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks."

His opposite is the hard-pan car owner who sticks year in and year out to a standard brand as the only rational economy.

Many will remember the scarcity of U. S. Tires last year.

A hardship at the time, but a benefit now. There are no U. S. Tires to be worked off—no accumulations—no forced selling of any U. S. brand—no shipping of tires from one part of the country to another to "find a market."

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Each one gets its share of U. S. Tires. There is a broad, constant, even distribution of U. S. Tires always going on from these Branches to the dealer.

Buy a U. S. Tire anywhere—in a community of 500 people or even less—and you get a fresh, live tire of current production—with all the original service and mileage the factory put into it.

The owner of a medium or light-weight car stands on equal ground with every other car owner.

Any United States Tire is a universal full money's worth—backed up with a leadership policy of equal quality, buying convenience and price for everybody.

the intellectual leaders and the farmer leaders who are concerned in this same plan in Virginia and the two Carolinas.

Now, that plan cannot be adopted bodily for Kentucky, but you can adapt it and the so-called California idea to the Burley situation and make a plan which is satisfactory.

How to Get Storage.

A MEMBER—How are we going to get money to get the warehouses and rehandling plants?

MR. SAPIRO—An association of this type will have to have plants—first for storage and second for rehandling and pricing, and perhaps other plants for other purposes. That brings up the question of the physical facilities. When you approach this problem you can do one of two things—either approach it from what I call a radical viewpoint or approach it from a conservative viewpoint. I am going to show the method of financing, which is now the method most approved in the West.

You will remember I told you that prunes drop from trees. They have canvassed under the trees, on the ground. They let them lie there until the sun absorbs most of the moisture and then they are ready for the packing houses. They need real sterilization, grading and packing. The plants are pretty expensive, running from $60,000 for a little plant to a quarter million for a large plant. If in addition you put in, as we have, in some instances canning facilities, it runs into a very large expense.

When we started out the association had to have places to take care of approximately 75 per cent of the prunes of California. That meant it would have to take care of somewhere between a hundred and twenty and a hundred and fifty million pounds of prunes right off. We got together meetings of the various packers in the State and arranged with them for user contracts. We told them one of two things would happen—they would have to give us the use of their plants, we paying them a fair amount, or we interest the citizens in the district and put up plants and make their plants useless. We had the prunes already tied up under contract and their plants were not good for anything else. They saw the light. We made contracts with forty-two firms. They agreed to take our prunes and pack as we ordered and so on during this period. In that user contract we put in one clause under which we had an option to buy those plants in any single district. We didn't have to buy at once; but in any district we could get busy and buy the plant at a value to be fixed by appraisal.

I will now explain the so-called Voykendal plan of finance, which will apply to any kind of physical facilities you contemplate. I will not explain it in reference to California alone, because we had to change it a little from what you would do in any other State. The reason for that is California has the most extraordinary stockholders' liability act of any State. There is an unlimited liability.

The Grain Warehouses.

Here is the plan in a nutshell: Suppose a marketing association needs warehouses. You figure out first where your warehouses are needed and how much you are going to need. Let us take an illustration not in reference to tobacco, but in reference to something actually being worked out now.

For wheat the Washington Wheat Growers' Association needs warehouses. They need a great big elevator near Pullman, Wash. That is in Whitman county, the chief wheat county of the State. The elevator is calculated to cost them approximately $100,000 in that district. The Washington Wheat Growers' Association is a marketing association. It does nothing but market the wheat of its members, and always on this same standard pooling arrangement. I shall always refer to it as the association; it has no capital stock.

The Washington Wheat Growers' Association operates all over the State of Washington. It will need other warehouses. We are going to take that one warehouse at Pullman, which is intended to serve only the district around Pullman. It receives, for example, no wheat from Walla Walla county. There will be a distinct problem. In Walla Walla county they may not need to put up warehouses at all, because they have enough public warehouses, all of a very high type, to take care of the wheat.

We cannot get $100,000 out of the growers or members of the association in that district this year. They are not making enough money on wheat; they are pretty well behind. What are we going to do? We will organize a corporation called the Pullman Growers or Whitman County Growers' Warehousing Corporation. It will have two kinds of stock. It will be incorporated for $200,000. It will have $100,000 of common stock and $100,000 of preferred stock. All the voting power of this corporation will be in the common stock; the preferred stock will have no voting power whatsoever.

Taking Over the Storage Plants.
For the initial issue we will issue nine shares of common stock (of the par value of $10 a share) or that extra $90 worth of stock. We will issue these in nine members of the wheat growers' association residing in Whitman county, somewhere near Pullman. We make each of those nine men pay $10 a share. We thus give to those nine men the complete voting power and control of that subsidiary corporation. We issue no other common stock at that time.

The preferred stock is in five classes. The classes are all alike, A, B, C, D, and E, all bearing 8 per cent cumulative dividends except for this one difference; that Class A is to be bought back and redeemed by the warehousing corporation before December 31, 1922, at par plus 2 per cent premium. Class B is to be redeemed before December 31, 1923, at par plus 2 per cent premium. Class C is to be redeemed before December 31, 1924, at par plus 2 per cent premium. Class D is to be redeemed before December 31, 1925, at par plus 2 per cent premium. Class E is to be redeemed before December 31, 1926, at par plus 2 per cent premium.

That means that each year you will redeem one class of the preferred stock at par, plus 2 per cent premium. We likewise provide that none of those classes of stock—for example, Class "A"—can ever be issued after the redemption date of that class (December 31, 1922.) So, when once a class is redeemed, it is practically nonexistent, except that you don't reduce the capital stock so as to wipe it out.

The Warehousing Corporation.

This preferred stock may be sold to anybody. Then this corporation agrees to do no buying or selling of wheat or grain; it simply agrees (and this is put in the articles of incorporation) to act as a warehousing or storage facility in a public way either for the Washington Wheat Growers' Association or other wheat growers who may desire to put their wheat there. It may handle feeds if its board desires it to do so, or it may perform other local service which its Board of Directors desires it to provide and the marketing association approves.

Then you have a contract between the marketing association and this warehousing corporation, under which the warehousing corporation undertakes to provide facilities that the marketing association needs. In return the marketing association agrees to put all its wheat for storage into the warehousing corporation and agrees to pay the warehousing corporation for the service—

1. The cost of doing the business.
2. A dividend of 8 per cent on any common stock.
3. A dividend of 8 per cent on all its issued preferred stock.
4. Money to retire one class of stock each year, plus that retirement of 2 per cent.

Also the contract between the marketing association and the grower contains a provision permitting the marketing association to deduct that prorated amount from the proceeds of his wheat during each one of those years.

A MEMBER—These classes of stock are not cumulative each year?

MR. SAPIRO—You have a direct obligation to retire one each year, but in addition we have the cumulative provisions as to dividends.

A MEMBER—You retire "A" and in addition to the 8 per cent you declare a 2 per cent premium?

MR. SAPIRO—On that one class. A MEMBER—On Class "B" that goes over the two years you don't declare a 2 per cent each year?

MR. SAPIRO—No, simply a retirement bonus. It amounts to this: Over a period of five years you have given such a bonus for retirement that your total runs to 9 per cent. That is according to custom; on retirement it is customary to give a premium. They expect it. Every grower's contract contains a provision under which the deduction is permitted. So the entire wheat crop handled by the association becomes guarantee for the payment not merely of the dividend but for retirement of the principal of the preferred stock over a term of five years.

Did every man get that? What happens? You don't charge that against the entire wheat pool; you charge that simply against the pool out of the district which it serves. Whitman county district alone would be chargeable with this arrangement, but you put a limit as to the amount of preferred capital stock that you can have in any district, depending upon your sign up in that district. You figure out the average price of wheat over a term of five years. You figure the minimum sign up in that district. Then you arrange that the amount you calculate you will need to withdraw for the purpose of retiring the preferred stock shall never be more than 2 per cent of the average value of the products coming out of that district. You can calculate that mathematically just as we did with our whole prune group. With our prune association we retire approximately $200,000 of stock a year, the crop usually running about $20,000,000. There we run about 1 per cent, but our maximum allowance is 2 per cent deduction for plants.

Now let me explain how the system works: In this system you get the common stock completely controlled by the growers; you get a preferred stock which is absolutely guaranteed both as to the dividends and the principal.

A MEMBER—Is that 2 per cent of the selling price of wheat or 2 per cent of the minimum price?

MR. SAPIRO—Two per cent of the sale price. But when we figure we never count on it being more than the average minimum we try to be conservative. But we allow a chance for expansion as we get growers to sign up, then you may spend more for physical facilities.

Ready Salability of Stock.

Here is what happens: You get a preferred stock which is absolutely guaranteed both as to payment of dividends and retirement of principal. Now you can go to the public and sell that stock, because it is guaranteed like a bond, guaranteed at a ratio of fifty to one, based not on top markets but on average markets.

You ask the public to buy the preferred stock. The growers put their crops behind those shares. They show their good faith. Then they say "If you are interested and want a plant in your place, or want a plant at all, buy this preferred stock." Then the first year you retire one class of preferred stock. In this Whitman district say, you will retire $20,000 a year the first year of Class "A" stock. Now you will deduct $20,000 from the proceeds of that wheat. They may deduct, for example, $20 out of the proportion one man would otherwise receive for his wheat. So they would give to him in common stock $20 worth to match the $20 that they have retired against him for the preferred stock. So over a period of five years you retire $100,000 worth of preferred stock and issue $100,000 of common stock. You take the preferred stock from the public and issue common stock to the growers in exact proportion to the value of wheat.

So that, after your term of five years, you have received the money from the public when you needed it; you have paid the public good and plenty for the use of their money, and you have paid it out of your crop. It has proved a brilliant success.

With the prune growers, we decided the first thing we needed was $1,200,000. We allotted the proposed expenditures and called meetings. We conferred with a group of bankers and rich men of the city. We said, "We want to spend $96,000 and put in a plant $96,000 of preferred stock. If there are here at Napa. We are going to sell any good plants in Napa we will consider buying a plant rather than put up a new one. It is up to you bankers. We don't want to make anybody's investment bad; we want to preserve capital."

A Brilliant Success.

At Napa we sat in with the bankers and told about the preferred stock. They brought lawyers in and we showed documents. Before we finished those bankers were figuring how much they could get for themselves. We got the keen men in the whole vicinity interested. I will tell you the general result. We not only sold $1,200,000 of 7 per cent stock at par, plus cumulative dividends, at cost of postage stamps and the cost of attending little conferences—the car fares—but in addition we scattered a lot of this preferred stock around. The banks and merchants had it. They felt like partners in the association. They said, "Here, this co-operative marketing association is a good thing. I believe in it; I have preferred stock." They would tell other growers, "You must join the association; I am not talking bunk to you; I own some stock in the growers' warehousing corporation. This shows what I think about it; it is the soundest thing in California." They do a wonderful amount of propaganda because they are the investors in the physical property. That is the character of plan of financing adopted by the Washington wheat growers and adopted by the other growers. Group after group in the whole Northwest and California adopting this. It is the best method of financing physical property that I have heard of in connection with a co-operative enterprise.

A MEMBER—Would dividends be paid on the common stock?

MR. SAPIRO—Yes, a dividend of 8 per cent per year on all common stock. The first year all you have pay is 8 per cent on $90. The second year you have to pay 8 per cent on $90 plus 8 per cent on $20,000. Each year the marketing association pays the warehouse association a dividend on each class of stock. At the end of five years you renew the marketing association contract. You may have to make a new contract between the marketing association and the warehousing corporation providing for use of the plant. The only payment then is the cost of doing business, reserve cost, and 8 per cent dividend on common stock.

A MEMBER—You have got a plant?

HOW HOUSEWIVES MAY TELL LAMB FROM MUTTON

Big Saving of Money If Housewife Knows Whether She's Paying Lamb Prices For Mutton.

Unless the housewife knows the difference between lamb and mutton, which few housewives do, she is apt to get mutton when she thinks she is purchasing lamb, say marketing experts of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture. Not only will she get meat of inferior quality but she may pay lamb prices for the carcasses of yearlings and sheep, the wholesale prices of which are considerably lower than for lamb.

With such a difference in price between mutton and lamb, it is vastly to the financial interest of the housewife to be able to recognize the various kinds of meat, and the following pointers by Bureau of Markets dressed-meat experts may help her to do so:

Distinctive Points of Mutton Carcass
Generally speaking a mutton carcass is heavier than one of lamb. The color of the meat is one of the best indications of age. The lean meat of lamb ranges from pink to light red, but as the animal grows older the color of the meat turns to a deeper red. This is also true of the thin strip of lean meat covering certain portions of the outside of the carcass. The bones in lamb are smaller in proportion to the meat and usually present a reddish appearance. The bones in a mutton carcass are not only larger but whiter and more flinty, both in appearance and texture. If the whole carcass can be seen, the ribs in a mutton carcass will show a much more pronounced spine or bow, whereas those of a lamb are straighter, giving the side of the carcass a more compact and less distended appearance.

One of the standard methods of distinguishing lamb from mutton is to inspect the first or ankle joint of the knuckle or end of the shank bone, is from leg. In dressing a lamb the broken off, and the end of the bone presents a ridged and porous appearance. This is soft and moist to the touch and carries a decidedly red color. As the animal grows older the bone becomes harder and whiter and the knuckle becomes more firmly attached to the bone. This is the condition during the yearling stage. The knuckle still breaks off, but when this occurs the end of the shank bone presents a hard, rough appearance and has lost much of its red color.

When the lamb has passed through the yearling stage and has become a sheep the bone has become so ossified or breaks off the end of the bone and separation of the foot from the shank or hardened that the knuckle no longer is made at the ankle joint. Thereafter the knuckle normally forms the extreme end of the foreleg and presents a hard, smooth, white surface with two prominent polished ridges. In the case of mutton the knuckle is frequently broken off by mechanical means in order to give the carcass a resemblance to yearling or lamb, but in these instances the bones are decidedly jagged and splintered and lack the redness which is characteristic of lamb and yearling carcasses.

It requires some study and application to learn to distinguish the various classes and grades of dressed meat, but every one whose duty it is to provide wholesome, nutritious meat for family consumption and to provide it economically should be able to distinguish good meat from that of medium or inferior quality, whether it is seen in the packing-house cooler, on the butcher's block, or in the home.
